Dear Guidance Counselors:

It is nice to get back into a routine with a fall schedule. I hope your students are adjusting to their new teachers and classes. I am writing to let you know that we are adding some programs to Educational Breakthroughs to meet the needs of our students.

Besides private tutoring for students of all ages and all subjects we are adding small groups of 2-3 students working on one subject at a time. These groups will be broken down by age groups and will address our student's academic needs. The tutor will create lesson plans for each student according to the goals that we set as a team. The small group will mainly focus on one subject such as: reading, writing, or math, and incorporating study skills in each session.

In addition, we are adding homework help sessions where the parents can purchase a package of sessions that they can use throughout the year to get expert help when school is not in session. These appointments will need to be scheduled ahead of time to make sure that we can meet the student's needs. The parents can certainly call us that day to see if we can fit them in. Homework help is offered Monday-Thursday 3:30-5:30. They are 25 minute sessions.

We are busy booking private sessions and group sessions for SAT prep. The group sessions will be offered on a monthly basis for two months at a time to give ample time to prepare for the test. SAT prep will be three hours a week for 8 weeks. These are available twice a week (Monday-Thursday) for 1.5 hours at a time or 3 hours on Saturdays. There are three options for SAT prep: private tutoring, small group (2-3 students) and large group (6-8).

if you know anyone who struggles with a learning disability we have staff trained and ready to help. In addition, we provide NILD Educational Therapy for those students who qualify for the program.
